

THE HAIRCUT

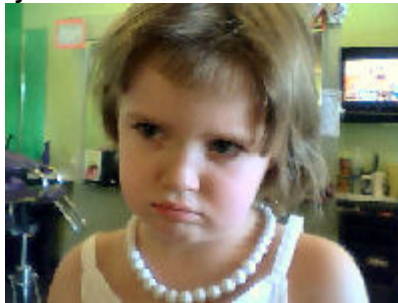

Nashville, Tennessee

August, 2008

Once upon a time in the land of Tennessee there lived a little girl named Catherine and her younger brother, Dawson. They had fun playing with each other but one day they became bored and decided to do something different. Spying a pair of scissors unattended on a table they decided to play "Beauty Shop".

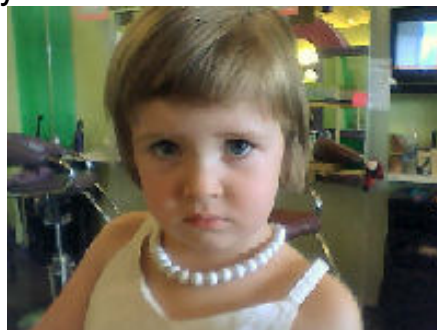

Now Catherine, being the oldest, took the scissors and just somewhat 'thinned out' Dawson's hair.

Then it became Dawson's turn to 'Style' Catherine's hair. He snipped here and he snipped there until he was pretty much satisfied that he had done a pretty good job on Catherine.

About that time the Tennessee Ogre found them and took their styling scissors away from them hopefully never to be seen again.

Catherine was taken to the Good Fairy Stylist in the Village of Nashville who was presented with the task of straightening out Dawson's awesome styling job. This Good Fairy was a miracle worker! By the time she finished, the little girl, Catherine, looked like a pixie right out of a fairy tale!
